FOREWORD.

The success of the first number of the Peking Who's Who and Directory undoubtedly warrants the continuation of the publication. Like its predecessor, the present issue is not free from defects, but changes have been made which it is believed will be regarded as improvements. In time it is hoped to make the book further respond to the needs of the city. To this end suggestions will be welcomed. In conclusion the Publisher wishes to express his gratitude to the many who co-operated in producing up-to-date information.

SALVATION ARMY.

Territorial Headquarters, 15, Hsi T'ang Tzu Hutung, Peking, Tel. No. 2922 E.

Language School. The Salvation Army has established its own Language School in Peking, for the instruction of new Missionary Officers in the Chinese Language. At present Forty-six Students are in the School, which is situated in Ssu T'iao Hut'ung, Tung Ssu Pailou, Peking.

Girls' Industrial Home. A Home for Orphans, and other girls, who have been in peril of some sort or other, has been established in Peking, at Pei Hsiao Chieh, Shao Chiu Hut'ung, and the number of girls in the Home is 65. Adjutant and Mrs. Beckett, assisted by Captain Sundberg, are in charge.

Boys School. A small Boys' Home is established in Peking, with sixteen boys.

Sanitary Baths. These are established in Hsiao Pu Ke Shih, off Morrison Street. Persons may bath at the small charge of three coppers each and, in addition, if necessary, have their clothes cleaned in a special delouser on the premises.

Chou Ch'angs. During the winter Chou Ch'angs for the relief of the very poor are established in the East and North West of the City. Usually the number of meals supplied each day is about two thousand.

Evangelistic Services. Meetings are held on Sundays, and nearly every night in the week, in five different halls in the City, the addresses being:—

Morrison Street,

Hsi Quan Hutung, Tung Ssu Pailou,

Tsu Chia Chieh, Hsi Ssu Pailou,

Erh T'iao Hutung, Hsi Tan Pailou, and Hsing Lung Chieh, Ch'ien Men Wai.

Training Home. A Training College for Chinese Cadets is established in Ssu T'iao Hutung, Tung Ssu Pailou. At present Twenty-five Cadets are undergoing a course of training for the position of Officers.
